Four biplanes were parked at the fuerstenwalde (N 53/V 33) airfield, local residents said that there was little flying. Many motor vehicles and 13 heavy AA guns were standing on the southern edge of the field. Many Soviet Army motor vehicle numbers were noticed including the number G 5-37-96.

No air unit is assumed to be stationed at the fuerstenwalde airfield. The barracks buildings and hangars are occupied by an AAA unit. The PO-2s, the presence of which is reported for the first time, are possibly assigned to this unit as courier planes. The reported motor vehicle number is assigned to an air force unit. A small air force ground unit was possibly transferred to fuerstenwalde to maintain the PO-2s there.
